AT THE THEATRES. Albaugh's-"Indiana."

One might imagine from the name that 'Indiana' was an opera which bad been written by a poetic and enthusiastic Hoosler, who had found his motif on the class'e banks of the Wabash. But imagnation in this direction is erroneous. "Indiana" is an opera by Audran, and if s quite English, you know, deriving its title from the name of a young woman in the play, who is an American heiress. A good audience saw the McCaull people do good audience saw the McCaull people do it at Albauph's has night, and it was done in a manner to win. Digby Bell made his first appearance this geason, and as the Miller was very funny and very catchy. Digby s no slouch. Annie Myers was pert, plump, and preity as usual Laura Joyce Bell was quite superb; Marion Manola, merry and meritorious; Josephine Knapp, neat and noticeable; Hubert Wilke, good but inconspicuous, and everybody else equal to the occasion. The chorus was looking well and in good voice, and altogether "Indiana" showed incontestable evidence that the week srin will not be a weak run. Again to night.

The National-"Lost in New York." The play "Lost in New York" was and in Washington last night at the National and a rattling big audience found it, and celebrated the discovery by upit, and celebrated the discovery by uproarious and irresistible applause. "Lost in New York" is a whooptydooden kind of a play that compels interest and carries everything before it like a cyclone.
There is pathos, adventure, villainy, virtue, firemen, police, beauty and a general layout of all the attributes of humanity seattered through it and woven into it in such a manner that an audience eatches on to it heart, soul and body. The biggest thing in it is the 80,000-gallon lands of real river, with steam tig, row-boats and other amphibious architecture floating around as natural as life. When the ting canne in last night whisting like a locomotive the gallery almost had a lit in its enthusiasm. The cast was quite equal to the demands upon it. Patrice, as Josefe Wilson, leading the field by a length, with Baby Deyo, as Lattle Searc-conning in second. Mr. Wise's Arther Wilson was a fair piece of comedy, and Miss Lindeman's Caroline Perbody would be better if she talked to the people on the stage instead of to the people in the andience.
The scenery was very line in places, Again to night.

Harris' Bijon Theatre "Dad's Girl."

Harris' Blion Theatre-"Dad's Girl." "Dad's Girl," a brightly - written omedy-drama, was presented at the Dijon yesterday to large audiences by the charming soubrette. Lizzie May Ulmer, and an excellent company. Miss Ulme is quite a fascinating little lady, and enacted the character of Modeia Sophia Hoskins (called "Dad's Girl") most ad-mirably. During the performance Mr. Barney Reynolds of this city gave numerous imitations of prominent actors, such as Edwin Booth, Richard Mansfield in "Dr. Jeyki and Mr. Hyde," Joseph Jefferson, and many other interesting impersonations. The supporting company is a carefully-selected one, and fills every re-irement of the play. Again to-night, Kernan's Some Fine Wrestling. Parson Davies' show at Kernan's this week is undoubtedly the best attraction of its character this house has ever given. The wrestling match last night following the good variety programme was won by the good variety programme was won by Jack Karkeek, a very clever wrestler, who stayed fifteen mirates and won Champion Muidoon's $50. The match was not by any means hippodrome a will was one of the cleverest bounds on both sides ever seen in Waskfungton, Muidoon forcing Karkeeker's shoulders down and getting a fall, but ten seconds after the expiration of the fifteen minutes. Two local wrestlers are entered to struggle for the $50 to night.

AN ECONOMIC POT-POURRI. Lady Knights of Labor Treated to a Congressional Discussion. Representatives Foran and Smith addressed a meeting of the Ladies' Assembly of Knights of Labor at Odeon Hall ast evening

The speakers proceeded on the assumption that ladies do not know much about economic questions; and that it was proper to enlighten them on fundamental ginuples of government.

Mr. Foran fold the ladies that the best government was that which governed least, and that advancement and the gen-eral welfare depended apon the maximum of individual freedom and the minimum of individual freedom and the minimum of governmental interference.

Then Mr. Smith came to the front to supplement Mr. Feran's instructive discourse, and told the ladies that there was no hope for the poor and the oppressed until the Government assumed all the until the Government assumed all the functions of monopolics and corporations and corrected the evils of the times by owning everything and seeing that everything was properly done by doing it itself. The ladies cannot compain that they were not supplied with the truths and sound principles which they had a right to expect, because the learned legislators gave them almost every possible variety of economic doctrine, but it must be admitted that the effect was somewhat confusing and the results alike disappointing whether they endeavored to accept everything that was told them or decided that in view of such a conflict of advisors they could make little progress in the search for economic truth.
